

RURAL CARRIERS GET FULL HOLIDAY ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Mailmen Have Almost Forgotten
What Christmas At Home Is Like

Seven rural mail carriers left the postoffice Saturday morning with dark service on their faces. Postmaster William H. Zuehlke had just informed them of the fact that for the first time in history rural carriers will not have to work on Christmas. After they finished shedding their tears, they grasped the hand of the postmaster and said they would try hard to bear up under the sad news. Already some of the carriers are beginning to worry about how they will spend Christmas, as it will be almost an entirely new experience for them. Four carriers, at least have never had a Christmas at home for more than 20 years. Last year, however, due to the fact that the carriers were able to finish their route by shortly after noon so as to enjoy their Christmas dinner with the rest of the family.

CHANGE IN RULES
The whole holiday for rural carriers has been made possible by an amendment to the postal rules just announced by the postmaster general. A week ago the postoffice also received a bulletin announcing that all rural carriers would be permitted to stop work at noon on Christmas, which was considered a step in the direction of a whole holiday for all postal employees. Rural carriers are in a somewhat different position inasmuch as their vehicles will carry a two days' supply of mail almost as easily as one.

A year ago the rural carriers association of Outagamie county went on record memorializing congress to provide for an all-day holiday for rural carriers on Christmas. Churches also have for years advocated a Christmas holiday for postal employees, but it was feared public opinion would not endorse it.

The half holiday for city carriers and the whole holiday for rural carriers means that patrons both in the city and rural districts will have to get their Christmas mail in earlier if they expect packages to reach their destination the day before Christmas. Postmaster Zuehlke announced.

How Much Will Your License For 1924 Cost?

Have you applied for 1924 automobile license? If you contemplate driving your car all winter it behooves you to obtain your next year's license plate as soon as possible.

The Post-Crescent has obtained a large number of automobile license blanks which it will be glad to give to drivers who ask for them. It also will be glad to indicate the amount of license fee, which is based on the weight of the car. If the driver will indicate the make and type (whether touring, coupe, runabout or sedan) when he asks for the application blanks.

These blanks may be obtained by calling at the Post-Crescent office or by enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to the automobile editor of the Post-Crescent.

APPLETON MAN HEAD OF STATE SEAL SALE

Reports from the schools on the number of Christmas seals which the children have sold during the campaign for the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association will be made on Monday. About $650 worth of stamps were sold by the workers down town, which is about $200 more than last year. Mrs. J. P. Frank is chairman of the sale.

It is interesting to many Appleton people to know that William Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Ross, is manager for the state campaign. Mr. Ross has been interested in the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association program for several years and has been a member of the executive committee of the association for four years. He resigned this honorary position in November to become a member of the association staff.

JURY'S FINDINGS IN VERDICT KILLS AWARD OF DAMAGES

Plaintiff Is Given $200 But Absolve Defendant From Blame.

A puzzling verdict was returned Thursday by the jury trying the case of Clara Schultz versus Vincent Forster in which the plaintiff asked $1,000 damages for injuries she suffered in a collision between the defendant's car and a taxicab of W. H. Dean.

It was a special verdict answering four questions, the first affirming that the plaintiff was injured, the second affirming that the defendant was guilty of want of ordinary care, the third denying that this want of care was the proximate cause of the accident and the fourth fixing the plaintiff's damages at $200.

It is expected that a motion for a new trial or a motion to set aside the verdict will be made by attorneys. If no motion is made and the verdict is left by the court to stand, the plaintiff will have lost the case. Morgan & Johns represented the plaintiff and Fred V. Heinemann represented the defendant.

EXPECT 1,000 ROAD EXPERTS AT MADISON

Approximately 1,000 county commissioners and highway officials are expected to be in Madison for the annual highway and roads school, the first of which has been set as the week beginning Jan. 21, according to an announcement by the state highway commission. The school is supervised by the commission and the state highway department.

Program for the annual school has not yet been completed, it is said, but is now being worked out. Experts in highway work from over the state and probably from other states will be invited to give lectures and talks at the school.

The highway school is conducted by the state commission each year for the purpose of giving county road officials information on the latest and best methods in highway construction. The school has attained distinction among county officials and representatives from every county usually are on hand.

In addition to the regular highway course, an exhibit of road machinery will be shown at the 1924 school.

State Engineer A. R. Hirst is in charge of the plans for the school.

Frank O. Letts, Veteran Mail Carrier, Completes 21 Years In Service

Rural Mailman, Has Seen Many Changes While Traveling 163,800 Miles In Discharge Of His Duty

Sunday, Dec. 16, Frank O. Letts, rural mail carrier on Route 4, will become of age in the service of the United States government for that will be the twenty-first anniversary of his entering the mail service. On the same day his brother, Edward F. Letts, will have completed 21 years of service as his substitute carrier, which makes him the oldest substitute carrier in the service.

During Frank O. Letts' service of 21 years as a rural carrier he was absent from work on account of sickness only seven days, or an even week. For sixteen years he used horses exclusively, during which time he drove a dozen different horses, two of which died. For five years he has been using an automobile in the service during the summer months. Each day he has been making the daily rounds of an average of 26 miles. The total distance he has traveled on his route is 163,800 miles which is equivalent to more than six trips around the world.

SEES BIG CHANGE

Twenty-one years has brought about remarkable changes both in the mail service as well as in the general environment. From a small amount of letters and weekly papers, his daily load has increased to a real burden of correspondence, as well as a daily newspaper for nearly every patron on the route. When he began carrying mail, practically all of the papers he carried were in German; not there are but few German newspaper subscribers left on the route.

Many of the old pioneer farmers living on his route have died and others have retired to the cities. Boys and girls he used to meet on their way to and from school have grown up, and are now rearing families of their own. Their children now create the same carrier.

Mr. Letts says he has never found his work monotonous, for there is plenty of human interest in the part he plays in the daily routine of the families on his route.

SEES HUMAN SIDE

"Yes, there is pleasure in carrying mail to the patrons on Route 4," he said, "and I think people look for me with interest every day, although it is not always good news that I bring. When you see a blushing maid come out after a letter and send one in return you can tell what is up, although when he pops the question she may give the old answer. 'This is so sudden.'"

"When some grandma gets the letter edged in black the mail carrier's task is not so pleasant. And there are times when I hate to pass folks by. When young people leave home, little do they realize how anxious their parents await a letter, but usually the longer they are away, the less frequently are the letters sent. Then some parent comes out and asks, 'Didn't you bring me a letter today?' Our boy used to write real often, but now— and tears gather in her eyes as she goes back to the house to await the next day's mail."

Mr. Letts thinks it remarkable that in spite of all the telephones that have been installed in farm homes, letters still keep pouring in. The veteran carrier appreciates the improved condition of the roads that makes the use of automobiles possible anywhere on the route, which would not have been possible in the days wagons sank into the mud up to the hubs. Among the great changes that he sees on his daily rounds are the large number of automobiles, the increasing number of farm tractors, the many silos, blooded cattle on nearly all the farms and improved methods of farming.

COMPLETE BRIDGE AT LAWE STREET BY CHRISTMAS DAY

Contractors Expect To Finish Their Work By Next Thursday

With the completion of Lawe street bridge practically assured by Dec. 26, employees of the Appleton street department are already engaged in preparing the approaches so that it will be possible to drive over the bridge this winter.

Ten teams are being used in hauling dirt for the fill at the north end of the bridge, where the greatest amount of filling is necessary. Considerable filling will also have to be done at the south end, for the level of the bridge is several feet higher than the old approach to the former wooden structure that was swept away by the floods two years ago. The railroad bridge that crosses Vulcan street here have already been raised.

The dirt which is being used for raising the approaches is being hauled from the site of the future Trinity Lutheran church at Kimball and Alameda where excavation is now in progress. Dirt also will be available from the addition to the Conway hotel. It is possible that vehicles will be able to pass over the bridge by Christmas, according to Robert M. Connelly, city engineer.

DECIDED INCREASE IN LUMBER DEMAND

Manufacturers And Dealers Report Heavy Orders For Southern Pine

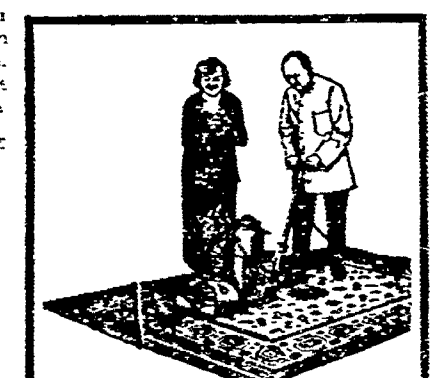

The principal lumber distributors and manufacturing centers report a decided increase in demand during the last ten days, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. There has arisen a heavy call for southern pine in practically all sections of consumption territory. Dealers having judged the time ripe for replenishing their stocks in preparation for the good winter and booming spring demand that they expect. The market of trade has been especially marked in the East, covering to most reports, but also in the middle west and southwest. This demand is not entirely for small lots for immediate shipment, as it has been for several months, as the percentage of orders for stock piles for delivery after the first of the year has increased considerably. However, there is still much stock wanted at once, on account of the excellent sustained retail trade and the badly depleted yard stocks, and transit cars are consequently in big demand. There are few of these now offered, and good mixtures being higher in price. The general price level is in fact a few notches higher than a month ago, and further advances are sure to come as demand develops.

Long joists, short dimensions, timbers and No. 2 common lumber are among the strongest items.

In connection with building operations, lumbermen believe that the construction program next year will be fully as large as during 1923, and larger if Congress eases the tax burden so as to encourage investment in real estate and building bonds, instead of in tax exempt securities as heretofore.

Domestic demand for Douglas fir remains restricted, tho with definite signs of an upward tendency. Carbo business remains the feature, Japan and other foreign markets buying especially heavily. Prospects for industrial demand are bright, especially in connection with railroad and car material. Mill stocks are low and ill-assorted, manufacturers continue to devote their attention mostly to water shipments, and come into the market only when they have accumulated a surplus of some side item. The price position remains firm. A considerable increase in demand for western pines is reflected by latest statistical reports from the inland Empire. Wide buying yard stock is still slow.

there is a greater call for shop lumber and lower grades.

The hardwood market remains unusually active for this late season and is strong because of the scarcity of dry stocks. Automobile interests are still the largest factors in the trade, and are likely to remain so at least during the first half of the coming year. A good deal of buying by furniture manufacturers is expected soon after the January shows. This industry has long been very cautious in purchasing, and has depleted its stocks to a point where they must be extensively replenished as soon as next year's styles have been determined upon.

RELIEF FOR GERMANY

According to Major General T. Allen, chairman of the American Committee for Relief of German Children, 7,000,000 German children are in immediate danger of starvation or of contracting tuberculosis as a result of prolonged undernourishment. Some of the conditions he describes should strike home to the American people, whose peace and plenty are about to expand themselves in generous Christmas giving. He says most of the German children referred to above do not get any warm meals or any bread at all. Most of the towns obtain only one-tenth of the milk they received in peace time, so that the babies and small children are deprived of this necessary article of diet. Instead they get coffee and saccharine.

Although the birth rate declined in Berlin by 30 per cent, the infant mortality during the last three months was twenty-one per cent higher than last year. He says half of the newly born children have been transferred to orphan asylums because the parents cannot provide for them. Approximately three million people are without underclothing and shoes, while babies are without clothes and in many instances bed clothing is entirely missing. Meat consumption, excluding imports, was 123 pounds per capita in 1912. 8 1/2 pounds in 1922 and the estimate for the first six months of 1923 is only 34 pounds. Thirty-five per cent of the entire German population, including men, women and children, are being supported out of public funds. Five million people are without work and an additional one and a half million are working short time.

These conditions must touch a responsive chord of American sympathy. They should appeal to us with the greatest force. The desperate plight of the German people, whose kin and descendants are so largely represented in our racial make-up, is a humanitarian appeal that should go to the very heart of this nation. We have, as a matter of fact, already given liberally to Germany, but we must give still more. We are the only nation in the world which can adequately provide relief to its stricken people. Drives throughout the country for funds for this purpose, are meeting with commendable success. Every community should have a share in this work and should do its part toward saving the babies and children of Germany from starvation and misery the coming winter.

MR. WALLACE DISCUSSES FARMING

The consideration which Secretary of Agriculture Wallace gives to farm problems in his annual report is exceptionally interesting in that it is an honest effort to explain facts clearly and to weigh suggestions fairly. Even his own plan, that for an export corporation to market farm products, he does not offer with undue zeal; he simply says that it contains sufficient promise of results to warrant experiment.

The report is encouraging. Mr. Wallace states that crop diversification is proceeding rapidly in the grain districts. The farmers are "better off actually and relatively" than a year ago. Their income for this year will exceed that of last year by $1,250,000,000. Rise in prices has been accompanied by decline in producing costs, and there has been some reduction of prices of things which farmers buy.

The government, the secretary holds, should not itself engage in the exportation of farm products or go into private business in any manner or to any extent. There are some difficulties, as Mr. Wallace states, which signify that an export corporation might not be practical, yet the plan of forming a farmer's export corporation as a cooperative venture, should, he thinks, be investigated thoroughly.

The government can help the farmer to the best result by affording him the same kind of assistance which it renders at present to other business. The farmers probably would not need an export corporation if the government regularly published reliable reports to the food supplies and crops in the chief producing countries.

URBAN LIFE AND HEALTH

The theory long held by many persons that the child of the congested districts of larger cities has a less promising prospect of surviving the illness common to babyhood than his brother or sister of the smaller town is somewhat upset by statistics just published by the American Child Health association, of which Herbert Hoover is the president.

While the lowest infant mortality rates registered in the United States are in smaller towns, such as Braintree, Mass., and Berkeley, California, which are chiefly residential communities, it is in cities of this same size, with populations of between 10,000 and 25,000, that the highest rates are registered. This is true particularly of manufacturing and mining centers.

New York city, with its great population of approximately six millions, reported in 1922 that only 75 of each thousand children born died before reaching their first birthday. This was a marked decrease from the rate previously recorded and is attributed by the Association in a large measure to a more wide-spread effort to carry modern health methods into the homes and to safeguard children in the schools.

Statistics dealing with the infant mortality rate in the rest of the country are just as interesting as those on New York city. Buffalo, with 103, Kansas City, with 100 and Pittsburgh, with 96, have the highest rate of the 25 American cities with more than 250,000 population. Of these same large cities an exceedingly low death rate is reported by Seattle, with 49; Minneapolis with 53 and Portland, Ore., with 56.

Of cities of from 25,000 to 50,000 population Pueblo, Colo., is the highest with 151. Lewiston, Me., has 138 and Woonsocket, R. I. 137. Newport, R. I. is low in cities of this type with 28. Next comes Montclair, N. J., with 42 and Alameda, Calif., with the same rate as Montclair.

One of the highest rates in the United States is returned from Bristol, R. I., with 202, and Dunmore, Penn., a mining center has 177. And in this same classification of cities, from 10,000 to 25,000, the lowest mark in the United States is registered. It is that of Braintree, Mass., with only 24. Columbus, Miss., is close up with only 25 and Astoria, Oregon, has cut its rate to the almost irreducible minimum of 29.

The wide disparity between conditions in the towns of the last-listed classification, such as 202 for Bristol and 24 for Braintree is explained by the fact that Braintree is a suburban residential community with few manufacturing interests, while Bristol is essentially a manufacturing center.

These figures show that American industrial life, particularly in those cities where there is much unskilled labor and congested housing conditions, offers much for improvement. It is information of this kind which concentrates public opinion in support of the activities of social workers and of employees themselves to obtain better living conditions. The death rate is an eloquent index to both sanitation and wages, and while perhaps it is to some extent due to ignorance in the early care of children there is enough left due to unsatisfactory economic environment to demand genuine reform.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

BETTER TAKE THE AIR

A letter came in here the other day from a lady who lately had noted considerable more life than is really safe or even comfortable. I dare not print it because as it is some folks suspect I have enough imagination to write fiction. But this lady gives her solemn word for it that she has accomplished something which I have generally considered impossible, to wit, a very substantial reduction of slackish flesh by exercise alone, without any change of her dietary habits. She declares that she is the envy of all her friends who are as she formerly was, and that she is, of course, they always feel new. Her regimen which has brought about the phenomenal reduction is something like this:

First thing in the morning she rolls out of bed and does some 30 somersaults before dressing. I have always insisted that somersaults are not exercise but this lady asserts 30 rolls before breakfast are exercise. She then goes to breakfast and disposes of a bit of fruit, two or three slices of toast and usually two cups of coffee made after the Brady formula, the best, she believes. After breakfast she does her usual household work which she seems to think is some more exercise, though I seem to have imagined the contrary. Her routine "work" finished, she grabs her hat and starts out for her morning hike, covering anywhere from three to eight miles, pedometered, before she gets back home.

If she covers six or more miles in the forenoon that is sufficient to comply with her day's stint. She then has the rest of the day for her usual work and play. Nothing more to do all day long, when she again dons her Greek slave costume and renders the complete Brady symphony. This she does because it exhilarates, whether it helps to reduce or not. Then she arrives at the end of a perfect day rolling another 20 somersaults, and 40 to bed.

I am willing to concede that such a program does certainly help to prevent the accumulation of superfluous weight. But I still maintain that even though such a regime be faithfully followed every day it will not materially reduce weight unless the diet is reasonably restricted at the same time. Excessive flesh accumulates in the first place because one eats enough to maintain two athletes, say, and takes but a small fraction of the daily exercise one athlete takes. I fancy that if we could have accurate data on the fuel intake of this enthusiastic lady before and after she began somersaulting and symphonizing we would find at least some additional explanation for the remarkable reduction she has experienced.

Six miles a day is an expensive luxury in these bustling times, with gas, rubber and oil so cheap. For those who can afford it, however, there is nothing else quite so good for health insurance. For those who can't afford it, a rendition of the Brady symphony is approximately equivalent to a two mile walk.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Immunity to Diphtheria

What do you think of immunizing a little girl 7 years old to diphtheria? T. P. W.

Answer—I think it would be desirable to immunize every child under 12 who proves susceptible when given the Schick test.

Wear Side Elastics

Please state specifically the injury caused by wearing tight elastic bands just above the knees to support the stockings.—Mrs. B. A.

Answer—Such constriction of the thigh interferes with the return of blood through the veins, predisposes to varicose veins, leg ache, swelling. Girls and women should wear side elastics attached to a skeleton waist which takes its support from the shoulders.

Fine Calling For Girls

I am a girl aged 17 and I want to become a nurse, but some people tell me it is not a good profession for a girl.—E. S.

Answer—I know of no nobler calling for a girl. If you feel that you want to become a nurse you may obtain some authoritative information about training schools by directing an inquiry to the American School Association, 1215 Capitol Building, Chicago, Ill., or 1010 Times building, New York, N. On a day like this I'd like to be sitting on the shore of a deep blue sea, watching jelly fish in great gleaming "ocean currents" fast as can be.

For 'tis for these fish, a current, occurrence, To curvy the ocean from ocean currents;

Or watching a bow-legged bather trying to catch a sea breeze,

The kind that will tease and make you sneeze.

Or a fat man flitting half a mile down the shore,

When he finds 'tis his wife, he flirts with her.

Or a fisherman fishing where 'tis forbidden to fish.

Chief Of Zuni Indians Relates Animal Legends

(From The Wild Turkey and Its Hunting, by Edward A. McIlhenny.) Ages ago, before man came to live on the earth, all beasts, birds and fishes lived in harmony as one family, speaking the same language, and subsisting on sweet herbs and grass that grew in abundance all over the earth. Suddenly one day the sun ceased to shine, the sky became covered with heavy clouds, and rain began to fall. For a long time this continued, and neither the sun, moon nor stars were seen. After a while the water got so deep that the birds and animals and fishes had to swim or fly in the air, as there was no land to stand on. Those that could not swim or fly were carried around on the backs of those that could, and this kept up until almost every living thing was almost starved.

Then all the creatures held a meeting, and one of each kind was selected to go to heaven and ask the great spirit to send back the sun, moon and stars and stop the rain. They journeyed a long way and at last found a great ladder running into the sky; they climbed up this ladder and found at the top a trapdoor leading into heaven, and on passing the door, which was open, they saw the dwelling place of man, and before the door were a boy and girl playing, and their playthings were the sun, moon and stars belonging to the earth.

As soon as the earth creatures saw the sun, moon and stars, they rushed for them and, gathering them into a basket, took the children of man and hurried back to earth through the trap door. In their hurry to get away from the man whom they saw running after them, the trap door was slammed on the tail of the bear, cutting it off. The blood spattered over the lynx and trout, and, since that time the bear has had no tail, and the lynx and trout are spotted. The buffalo fell down and hurt his back and has had a hump on it ever since. The sun, moon and stars, having been put back in their places, the rain stopped at once and the waters quickly dried up.

On the first appearance of land, the turkey, who had been flying around all the time, lit, although he was warned not to do so by the other creatures. It at once began to sink in the mud, and its tail stuck to the mud so tight that it could hardly fly up, and when it did get away the end of its tail was covered with mud and is stained mud color until this day.

Distill Coal For British Oil

(Archibald Hurd, in The Annalist.) The future prosperity of Great Britain, and her security as well, rests upon oil, in the last analysis. The Royal Navy, the Royal Air Force and merchant shipping are all practically dependent on oil for motor power.

The percentage of shipping using coal has declined from 89 per cent to 70 per cent in the last nine years. The same situation is said to be developing in workshops and factories. And yet today Britain controls only 5 per cent of the world's oil resources and has only 2 1/2 per cent within the territories of the empire. The idea is dismissed that oil is like to be found in Great Britain, quoting the 1918 report of the coal conservation committee to the effect that she has "neither water-power nor natural oil or natural gas in any appreciable quantity."

Britain's case might be almost hopeless except for the possibility of the profitable distillation of carbonization of oil from British coal. Great Britain still has vast coal reserves.

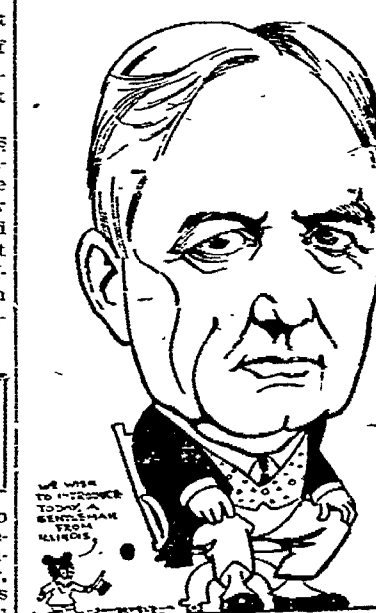

Under the carbonization process the open fireplace, dear to the British heart, need not be sacrificed. The residue of pure coal, after the raw coal has been treated so as to yield oil and gas, is stated by Dr. Margaret Fishenden to average a radiant efficiency of from 30 to 33 per cent in grate which gave a radiant efficiency with coal of 25 per cent.

Another Big Crowd Sees Girl's Play

Townpeople Contribute To Success Of Christmas Program By Drama Girls

The work of many people outside the recreation department of Appleton Women's club helped to make the Christmas program at the Playhouse on Wednesday and Friday a great success. A larger crowd saw the performance on Friday evening than on Wednesday.

Mrs. John Engel, Jr. read "The Other Wise Man" and she and Mrs. J. H. Bannister arranged the tableaux. Mrs. Marie Boehm, Miss Irene Albrecht and Wm. H. Nolan assisted with the music, while Harold Zuehlke and Reynolds Chalmers took charge of the lighting effects. Miss Carla Heller and Mrs. Frank Wahl assisted with the costumes. The dramatic class of Appleton high school, through the cooperation of Miss Ruth McKinnon, took care of the make-up, while Miss Emilie Runzheimer did the hair-dressing.

All three recreational directors of the club took part in the production. Miss Martha Chandler coached the play and was in general charge of the program. Miss Marie Heinemann took part in the play and assisted with the staging. Miss Eleanor Halls secured the properties for the vision scene. Members of the dramatic workshop and the ukelele club were in the play and tableaux.

So many people loaned properties and costumes for the program that only one costume had to be made. The campaign for this and for the cross-gartering of one of the characters was all that had to be purchased.

H. S. CAGE TEAM SHOWS PROMISE IN FIRST BATTLE

School Squad Whips Mulford Athletics, 22 to 18, in Thrilling Game

Kaukauna — Athletic coaches of the high school turned loose a flashy basketball team which defeated the Mulford Athletic club, for two years undisputed champions of the city, 22 to 18, in a thrilling cage contest in the auditorium Friday evening. The game proved the statement made early this season that there is splendid material for a good team.

The orange and black was unquestionably superior in every department of the game. Previous experiences of the students was a great asset and the boys pivoted, shot, short passes and in general showed so much speed that the former high school stars had difficulty in holding their own. The high school scored the lead 19 to 3 at the end of the first half and during the last period remained in the lead.

5-MAN DEFENSE

Coaches McGrath and Waterpool have developed a strong five man defense method of play. Mulford Athletics tried time after time to penetrate the defense and in most cases not only failed but lost the ball in the attempt. The team worked together so smoothly that it is expected the school will win a large share of the games scheduled for the season which opens next Friday when East DePere high plays here.

Jacob Horva held the center position during the entire game. Milton Engerson, William Taylor and Jack Farwell played forwards while Gilbert St. Mitchell and Kurtis Beyer were guards. St. Mitchell and Taylor starred for the high school. For Mulford Athletics, Elmer Ott and Elmer Roman were forwards, Alfred Risau and Harold Engerson alternated at center while Carl Chopin, Martin Hess and Warren Brenzel guarded.

In a preliminary between the freshmen and sophomores the readings were noted out 11 to 9 in a fast contest. The winning team included Cox, Welch, Benbrook, Stein, Sessowski and Goldin while players on the freshman team were McFadden, Martore, Godfrey, Grebe, Nole and Vanden.

PREPARE HUGE PLANE FOR FLIGHT AROUND WORLD

Dayton, O. — The Douglas Cruiser, built for the United States Air Service, is undergoing a thorough testing here in preparation for a flight around the world, tentatively scheduled for next June.

The new airplane, a large, powerful "ship" capable of carrying 300 gallons of gas, 35 gallons of water and 50 gallons of oil, was flown here from Santa Monica, Calif., by Lieutenant Eric Nelson, shown here with the plane.

It has a wingspread of 50 feet and a cruising distance of 2500 miles or more. Its speed ranges up to 175 miles an hour.

Air service pathfinders are abroad just now seeking locations for supply bases and obtaining permission for American planes to fly over foreign countries. Thus far, reports received indicate successful negotiations with Greenland, Iceland and the countries of northern Europe.

Ohio farmers demanding "lower taxes and less legislation" have started caravans of old prairie schooners to Columbus and Washington from different parts of the state. Here is the first wagon getting on its way. It is ready to leave North Lima, near Youngstown, with Mrs. R. H. Breyer, lecturer of the Mahoning County Pomona Grange, holding the reins. She is dressed in the bonnet and hoop skirt her great-grandmother wore when she came to Ohio from Connecticut via covered wagon years ago.

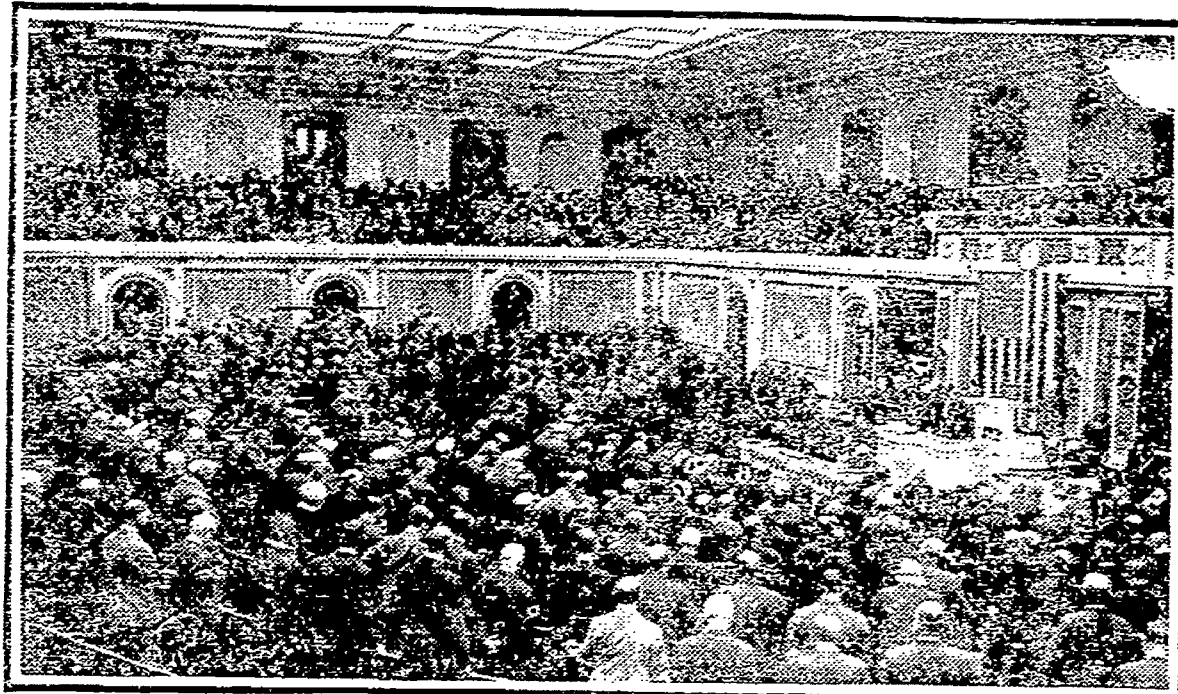

It was rumored in the Capital that Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, German ambassador, is to resign. This he denies. Dr. Wiedfeldt (left) is shown talking to Washington newspaper men at the White House just after he had come from a conference with President Coolidge.

When President Coolidge made his maiden speech to the joint session of Congress, these men made it possible for the chief executive's words to be heard throughout the country. This is the temporary control room in basement of the Capitol, through which Coolidge's voice was broadcast by radio.

Mrs. Enrico Caruso, widow of the world-famous tenor, married Captain E. A. Ingram recently. The ceremony took place in the Oratory, Brompton, just outside of London. Photo, first to reach this country, shows the couple just after the wedding.

When noon came on Dec. 3, members of Congress reconvened. The Senate adjourned after 45 minutes, in respect to the memory of deceased members, but the House (above) became involved in a fight for the speakership. The above photo was taken at the opening minute when a prayer was being said.

The physics department of the University of Iowa was doing a bit of experimenting. It was necessary for someone to submit to the test. And that wasn't easy. His clothes had to be soaked in gasoline and then ignited with a match. Then the subject was to jump into a tank of water. Captain McCullough of the university swimming team volunteered. Here he is—his jacket a mass of flames—accomplishing the leap. He suffered no ill effects.

This is the committee representing progressives in the House of Representatives that conferred with Floor Leader Nick Longworth and drew from him consent to liberalize the rules of that body. It was a really big moment in the history of the house. Left to right: Representative Florentino H. LeGuardia of New York, John M. Nelson of Wisconsin, and Roy Woodruff of Michigan.

A novelty recently appeared in London streets in the form of a "spark-plus" side-car for motorcycles. This shows one in use—by a young woman's dog. Case, we say.

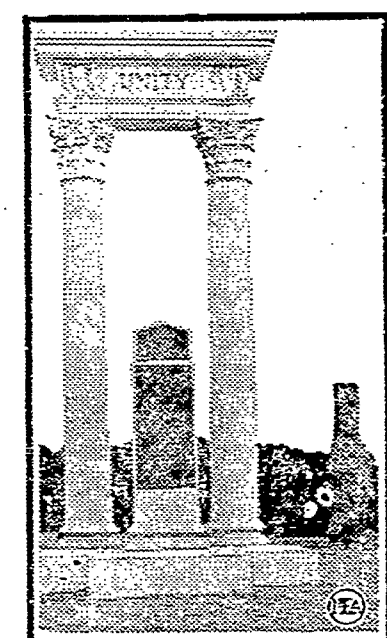

Isn't he an angelic-looking chap? And doesn't he sit quietly and peacefully over in his corner? There's a big reason. Christmas is coming and it is only natural that this youngster, typical of any little Appleton boy, is on his best behavior. He doesn't require any scolding this time of year to make him mind his p's and q's.

"Don't get gay with me," this pug, mascot for the U. S. Marines, probably is saying. The dog appeared at all football games played this season by the "devil dogs."

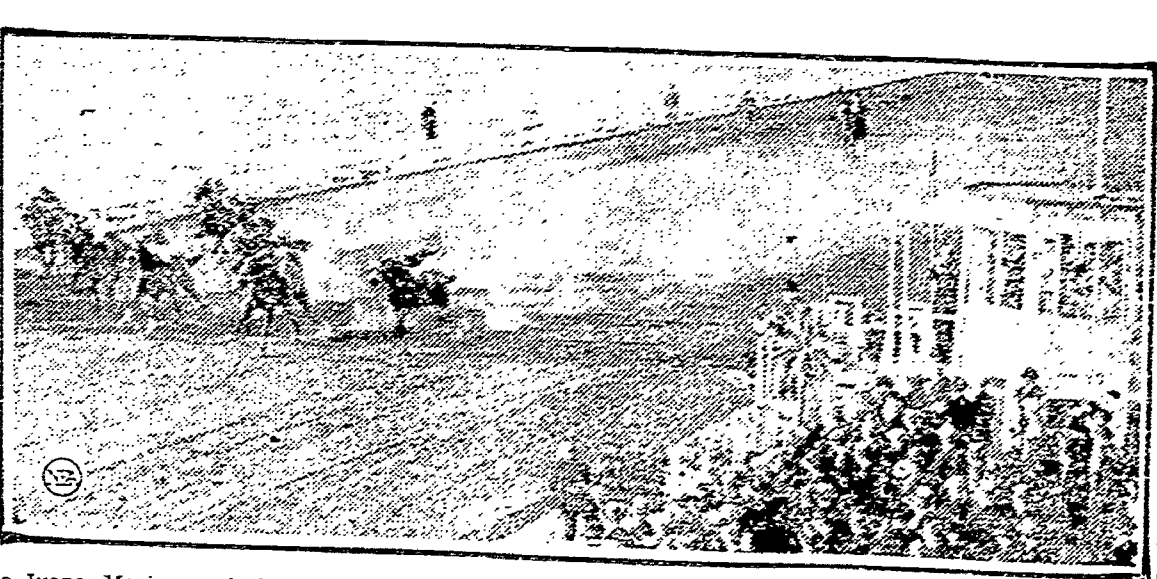

New York society girls ran two of the biggest hotels there for a day for the benefit of the Society for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis. Miss Marjorie Demarest makes a smart looking bell-hop, doesn't she?

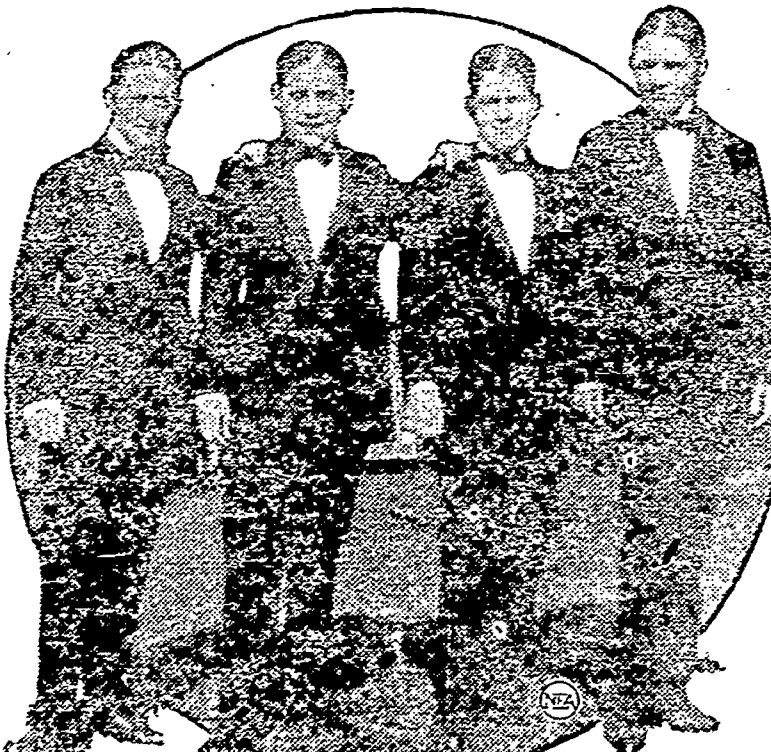

On the spot of this memorial to the re-created America the last Confederate troops surrendered. It is on the Bennett Farm, three miles west of Durham, N. C. The chimney of the farm house still stands. The two columns represent the North and South and the caption over them reads "Unity."

John Hunt of New York City claims the "hot dog" championship of the United States, and who will dispute him? He severely punished 53 of the things at one sitting in a contest.

Tia Juana, Mexico, again is the mecca of society folk of southern California and sportsmen and horse lovers from all quarters. The winter races are on again. And Tia Juana, from all reports, is just about as wide open as it ever was. The eighteenth amendment is something they've only heard of in a casual way, down there. Here is a closeup of a section of the crowd on hand the opening day. Chiava, a rank outsider, with Ban-trell up, won the initial handicap at 46 to 1 in a massed finish.

These four dashing young Latharios pictured here all go to prove that things are not always what they seem. They recently took part in the junior-freshman wedding, an annual event at the Florida State College for Women at Tallahassee, Fla. In their natural roles they are left to right, Elizabeth Bass, Elizabeth Gerald, Lucile Sumner and Jo Anna Curtis.

No wonder millions of Christmas seals are sold every year. The sale is conducted by the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated organizations. This shows the good use to which the money is put. Two tots are receiving the "sun cure." Now buy!

DR. DICKIE TAKEN ILL; FORUM WILL HEAR DR. A. B. HALL

Able Speaker Is Obtained From University Of Wisconsin For Sunday

Sudden illness from pneumonia has prevented Dr. Samuel Dickie, president of the Albion college, Albion, Mich. from coming here to speak at the Peoples Forum Sunday evening, according to a telegram received Saturday. His place will be filled, however, by one of the prominent speakers of the state, and one who has pleased Appleton audiences before. He is Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall of the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. Hall's topic will be "The Demagog in a Democracy," and promises to be an interesting discourse on some of the troubles of the nation. The usual open discussion will be permitted after he has finished speaking.

Dr. Hall spoke at the forum two years ago and made a forceful address at that time. He is in wide demand as a speaker and gives a most able discussion of his subject. He is of the type of Dr. Shaler Mathews, a recent forum speaker, thoroughly interested in his subject and possessed of the ability to present it in a likable way.

There are several open dates on the last half of the forum program and effort will be made to have Dr. Dickie speak here later.

The program will open at 7:30 and there will be special music by the Methodist quartet consisting of Mrs. Winifred Wulson Quinlan, Mrs. William H. Nolan, George Nixon and Carl McKee.

An order of the state tax commission by which nine assessors of income were dismissed and a number of income tax districts consolidated with others, transfers Anton Oppegard, acting assessor of income and supervisor for assessments of Outagamie and Waupaca counties, to Marathon and Lincoln counties.

Under the new plan 30 assessors were appointed by the commission. The redistricting is to become effective on Jan. 1. The names of the assessors dismissed were not published, only those of the appointees. Winnebago county has been coupled with Fond du Lac with E. P. Worthing in charge. He will maintain offices in Oshkosh and in Fond du Lac with deputies in charge at each office to take care of his work in his absence.

NO APPOINTMENT HERE

The new Outagamie and Waupaca counties without an appointment. It appears to be the only district left vacant. The office became vacant a year ago when John A. Lonsdorf, former assessor, resigned to assume his new duties of district attorney. Shortly after Mr. Oppegard, a field representative of the tax commission came here to take temporary charge. Although examinations for new appointment were held, the vacancy never was filled.

At one time there was a rumor that this office would be closed but Mr. Oppegard still believes that such never will be the case, as this is too important an office to close. Last year this office personally served 3,000 income tax payers, he said. He said he was not able to stay just what will be done in filling the vacancy here. Calumet could well have been added to the Appleton district since it borders on the Appleton city limits, but this county has been added to the district of Manitowish, Kewaunee and Door counties, he said.

POWERS HELD FOR TRIAL ON JAN. 14

Following his preliminary examination on the charge of manufacturing moonshine whiskey in the town of Buchanan, William Powers of that town, was bound over by Judge A. M. Spenser Saturday to the upper branch of the municipal court to stand trial on Jan. 14. He was released on furnishing bonds in the sum of $1,500. Powers' arrest was made several weeks ago as a result of a raid by prohibition agents and Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke last summer in Buchanan. Arrangement was delayed by the fact that Powers was missing for a long time.

Matt Schmidt Came To City 55 Years Ago
Fifty-five years ago Friday Matt Schmidt then a boy in his teens, arrived in Appleton from his home in the town of Harrison to make his way in the world. Kiss' store now stands. During those early days Mr. Schmidt said it was no uncommon thing to see from half a dozen to a dozen ox teams loaded with hay or

DR. MORSE HURT AS HE DRIVES IN STREET CAR PATH

Street Car Crashes Into Automobile As Doctor Turns Into His Driveway

Dr. E. A. Morse, 450 College ave., in St. Elizabeth hospital, suffering with a broken collar bone as a result of a crash between his automobile and a south bound car of the cemetery line near his home Friday evening.

The accident occurred shortly before 6 o'clock. It was the street car that was due at College ave. and Oneida st. at 5. Dr. Morse was driving home from the business district and slowed down at the corner of College ave. and Rankin st. to allow another automobile to pass and to make the turn.

The Morse home faces College ave., but the driveway to the garage is off Rankin st. The physician had turned the corner on to Rankin st. and nearly half way between College ave. and Washington st. he turned to the left to pass into his driveway.

He did not see the approaching street car, he said, and just as he drove in front of it, the street car hit the automobile just back of the engine, forcing the automobile back several feet where it tipped over. The front end of Dr. Morse's car was practically demolished and the front wheels were shoved together.

Dr. Morse was conveyed to his home and on Saturday removed to St. Elizabeth hospital for an X-ray examination. He suffered a broken collar bone, as well as body bruises and was considerably shaken up.

CHALMERS First Proved and Now Presents HYDRAULIC 4 Wheel Brakes

Chalmers has adopted Lockheed type hydraulic four-wheel brakes—the type now specified on all Detroit police flyers—only after its own long research and thousands of miles of proof-driving on its own cars, and in comparison with other principles.

Chalmers took nothing for granted on the whole question of four-wheel brakes.

In spite of the fact that these hydraulic brakes had already proven themselves in owner-use over periods up to four years, Chalmers engineers set out to get their own proof.

But, through all the months spent in surveying the entire field both in Europe and America, there never was a chance to doubt the overwhelming superiority of the hydraulic principle.

In consequence, Chalmers now presents hydraulic braking as the one and only system of four-wheel brakes that:—

Equalizes perfectly and automatically, on all four wheels at all times.

Applies the same braking pressure to all four wheels, and releases instantly when the pedal is released.

Does not interfere with easy steering in the slightest degree, even on sharp turns.

Requires no lubrication whatever, all the year 'round. Requires less adjustment than the ordinary rear-wheel brakes.

There will be no chance for you—no matter what car you drive or what your previous impressions may have been—to question these superiorities for a moment.

The demonstration you can give yourself in ten minutes' time is too emphatic, too conclusive, too sensational, to leave a single shred of argument.

Historic Goeta Canal Carried
Tourists Over Swedish
Mountains

By Associated Press
Trollhattan Falls, Sweden.—Climbing mountains in a ship was the unusual experience of many American visitors to the Gothenburg exposition when they made the trip over the historic Goeta Canal from Gothenburg to Stockholm.

Marine locks in flights of five or six carry tourist ships through granite hills from river to lake, until the canal reaches an altitude of more than 300 ft. in the highlands of the southern Sweden, and then the ships begin their trip down stairs until they make their way to the level of the Baltic Sea, and after a short voyage on the open sea finally enter the lakes again and slip into the back door of Stockholm through fresh water.

It takes two and a half days to make the journey of 300 miles from Gothenburg to Stockholm. The actual canal is only 84 miles long, but 58 locks are passed in avoiding the falls in rivers and ascending to high lakes in the interior.

Fifty miles of the trip is through the Goeta River, and here at Trollhattan Falls the canal passes around the celebrated falls, which give southern Sweden much of its electrical power and are the seat of some of its greatest industrial concerns.
Here is the great plant which supplied the Bolshevik government with 500 locomotives, and recently sent 125 locomotives to Argentina.

In the early days of the Bolshevik government, when Leonov was in charge of the effort to reequip the Russian railways, Sweden was given a contract for 1,000 locomotives. This plan was dropped before the eyes of other industrial nations by Bolshevik leaders, who feared that their failure to recognize Russia and share in the great profits of the rehabilitation participation in the rehabilitation.
The Swedes insisted on having gold in advance on the locomotive order. Five hundred were finally completed and delivered. Then the work stopped although the Swedish manufacturers still had Russian money which had been advanced for materials. The Swedes alleged the plans for the locomotives to meet the needs of the Argentine railways, and are today carrying on a lively business with the South American republic which has enabled the manufacturers to return to Russia its advances on cancelled orders.

The Goeta Canal was originally begun in 1599, when the Trollhattan Falls were successfully locked. The complete waterway between Gothenburg and Stockholm was first opened in 1832.

HAS UNUSUAL WAY
TO GAIN SONG FAME

Joseph Conlin Has Athletic Program—Hopes To Capture
McCormack Crown

By Associated Press
Chicago.—This is his physical training schedule:
4:30 a. m.—Get up and jog eight miles across country roads.
5:15 a. m.—Take setting up exercises and finish with a plunge in the lake. Then breakfast.
6 p. m.—Play two or three sets of tennis and go in the lake again.
8 p. m.—Row a boat for an hour;
not drifting by moonlight stuff, but sturdy pulling on the oars. Then to bed.

ENTERTAINS, TOO
He isn't training for a championship battle in the ring either. He is Joseph Conlin, aspirant to the lyric tenor crown of John McCormack, who is building up his forces
for a concert and operatic debut
here next fall.

His training camp is at Brown's Lake, Wis., and when he isn't working at the physical training, he is entertaining the neighbors with voice practices.
Conlin has the voice, critics assure him. It was voice enough to induce the great Italian maestro, Lombardi, teacher of Caruso and Scotti, to take him as a pupil for two years. He is Lombardi's last operatic scholar, and just before the maestro's death in 1914 he sent Conlin out to receive the world's famous.

WAS GASSED
But his health broke down, and kept breaking down. There would be intervals of strength when advances would show for more of his singing. While a soldier he sang with potent appeal for wartime drives. A cloud of gas in training camp, however, wrought new havoc to his throat and lungs. It was a succession of disappointing reverses
which would suffice for a lifetime.
When I was a boy I had the heatin and I worked hard for continuing," Conlin explains. "Now I have the voice training but there's been my handicap. Why shouldn't I work just as hard for health as I did for musical knowledge?"

The training camp schedule is supplying the health, too.

ON THE SCREEN

"ENEMIES OF WOMEN" AT THE ELITE

"Enemies of Women," Cosmopolitan Corporation's production of the Vicente Blasco Ibanez story of the same title, with Lionel Barrymore and Alma Rubens featured in the two leading roles, opens at the Elite theatre on Monday for a 3 days' engagement. Allan Crossland was the director. Joseph Urban designed the settings and John Lynch prepared the scenario. With many of its scenes taken on the actual locations of the story in Monte Carlo, Nice and Paris,
and with a lavishness of production never surpassed the film promises to excel the average "super production"
in every way.

Blasco Ibanez proved in his brilliant "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and "Blood and Sand" that his stories have particular screen quality.
Perhaps his ability in colorful description of characters and scenes is responsible for the ease with which his stories have been brought to the screen. In "Enemies of Women," the drama of regeneration of man and woman, is laid in the background of Russian society life, shifting to Monte Carlo, and thence to Paris. Under the revels of Russian courtiers, the tragedy of the gambling tables at Monte Carlo and the love of a man and woman, there is the constant rumbling of the cannons of war. The story has practically every element in it required for a great screen drama.

Josiah Urban has designed magnificent settings for the Russian palace of Prince Lubimoff, the French villa of Altkia, a replica of the Casino, and the Monte Carlo home of the Prince.
Allan Crossland, the director, has had his opportunities in a number of fine, fight, fashion and emotional scenes as well as in big war episode. Besides the two featured players are the cast includes Pedro de Cordoba, W. H.
Thompson, Garret Hughes, Gladys
Hulite, William Courty, Jr., Marie Majorani, Paul Panzer and Betty Bruton.

SPLENDID NEW ROLE FOR W. S.
HART IN HIS BIG PHOTOPLAY
"BRANDY BROADWAY"

Bob Sands, recently from Arizona
—"This is the town—come to New York recently to take a job that the well-known railroad magnate.

Larry had got into some sort of tangle over letters written to a pretty waitress, but Bob found she was all to the good and that the young waiter hadn't a chance with her.
And so he promptly fell in love with her himself and was as helpless as a child when she looked at him.
So he shifted his "desire" to the boy's side and Harrington, Sr., hired a detective to get the "papers." He got them but Bob followed on a torn piece of horse and recovered the documents.

Above is the outline of William S.
Hart's new Antcraft picture, "Brandy Broadway," which will be presented at the New Eden Theatre next Sunday.

"HAUNTED VALLEY"
"To Hazardous Heights" the third month episode of "Haunted Valley,"
the new Pathescreen starring Ruth Roland, will be seen Sunday at the New Eden Theatre. Thrills are the keynote of the current chapter, with a harrowing climax to the episode as has ever been served. Mysterious characters lurk in the Valley, and blow in the misty rain encounters one. In an effort to reach the villainous Mallinson, aided by Foster, Ruth comes to and when attempting to climb a tower that is secured to the top of a cliff. Craig, the hero, becomes a man of mystery and seems to be working for and against the heroine.
But the thrills are there!

HINGHAM PRESENTS
GIFT TO NAMESAKE

English Town Sends Chairs
Made From Elizabethan
Oaks To America

Hingham, Mass. — Wood from an oak tree planted by Queen Elizabeth went into the making of three chairs
which have been shipped from Hingham, Norfolk, England, to this town.
They are the gift of Harry C. Tofts, a builder in the English Hingham, to the Bay State township which was founded by men from the Norfolk town in the seventeenth century.

Sixteen years ago the top of the tree planted by the great Queen in Kimberly Park died and it became necessary to fell it. Mr. Tofts bought the timber and stored it. A few years ago he met Rev. Louis C.
Cornish, secretary of the American Unitarian Association, who for sixteen years was minister of the First Parish Church of Hingham, Mass., and decided to make through him his gift to this town.

Mr. Tofts made the chairs, which were designed by Hugh Mottram
when he was a member of the period when the Hingham men emigrated to America. Mr. Tofts stipulated that one of them should be used by the chairman of the board of selectmen,
one be placed in the First Parish meetinghouse, erected in 1681, and the third be used by Mr. Cornish during his lifetime and after that go to the minister of the First Parish Church in perpetuity.

GAS MASKS USED
TO MAKE GOGGLES

Paris — Automobile goggles advertised for sale for ten centimes each or a little over 170 to the dollar at the present rate of exchange, recently brought a rushing business to a second hand store on the left bank of the Seine, and caused much speculation as to how, in these days, any manufacturer could place such an article on the market at the derisory price.

A former polli solved the riddle.
The goggles had been cleverly cut out from the original gas masks issued hurriedly to the French army
when gases made their appearance on the western front as a weapon of war. One model, it was recalled, was cumbersome and inefficient, but the polli had to put up with it for nearly a year, until the improved model was manufactured.

The second hand shopkeeper had discovered several thousand of them in the war stocks and bought them
by the hundred weight.

FIND ANCIENT BOAT
IN CALIFORNIA PORT

Los Angeles — The framework and planking of a craft which has withstood the stress of years and which is believed to have been used centuries ago by Chinese or Spanish explorers or pirates, have been uncereered many feet beneath the earth's surface at Los Angeles harbor in excavations for an oil storage tank.

The boat, less than forty feet in length, with high sides, is built of a heavy, thick wood. Some of the timbers are half rounded, as is the case in many old Oriental vessels. Metal used to fasten pieces of the craft together had rusted away. The construction of the ship indicated that it was not constructed by Indians.

More than a century ago, channels of the harbor are said to have extended much farther inland than today, and mariners say they believe the vessel entered, became fast in the mud bank and was abandoned by the crew.

KAUKAUNA SHEIK
MEETS MEISSNER
HERE NEW YEARSZwick's Manager Agrees To Sign Protege For Bout With Self Styled Champ

Jack Zwick, Kaukauna "Sheik," will fight in Appleton New Year's day. After several weeks of dickering, Elmer Johnson, Appleton fight promoter, and Patry Callahan, Kaukauna, Jack Zwick's manager, have reached an agreement and the Kaukauna "Sheik" will be signed for a bout with Archie Meissner, Marinet flier, who claims the championship of the state. According to present plans, the card on which the Zwick-Meissner bout will be the main go, is scheduled for New Year's afternoon at Armory G. Zwick has been laid up for several weeks with a bad cold, and has not fought during that time. His manager, or announcer, that he has recovered, however, and is making up for lost time. In the two weeks intervening, the "Sheik" should be able to work himself back into his old form.

Patry Callahan also announces that he has signed his former heavy weight, Bud Gorman, for a battle with Young Bob Fitzsimmons at Kalamazoo, Mich., on Jan. 4. Gorman recently put it all over Homer Smith of that city, and since then is a big favorite with the Michigan fans.

HAVERS

SARAZEN

America's pre-eminent golf professional, Gene Sarazen, only native champion to repeat in a major event the past season and England's new champion, Arthur Havers will come to grips in a 72-hole match in California next month.

Sarazen and Havers will play 36 holes in San Francisco Jan. 15 and 36 holes more in Los Angeles two days later. Havers is due to arrive in this country the middle of December. Sarazen is now a Miami, Fla., putting in some lousy practice holes.

Both have won the English Championship for the first time this year. Sarazen, winner of the professional match-play title a year ago, repeated this season.

PINKY WINS ON GOLDMAN'S FOULTwo Fighters Lose Bouts By
Missteps On Milwaukee
Card

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Pinky Mitchell, junior, defeated champion of Milwaukee, Gene Tamm, thereby proving, well, we'll bite, what does it prove?

Philadelphia has put the ban on mixed fights and in the future you must not order plain fried potatoes with your sublimus chow mein.

Man who drank a quart of hair tonic and survived may be said to have had a hair-breath escape.

The National League is going to start a baseball school for the purpose, we guess, of convincing ball players of the futility of trying to think.

Announcement is made of the reinstatement of the Illinois footballer who was barred for teaching ten-year-old boys how to swim. It developed the boys were pure of soul and uncontaminated by the vicious spirit of professionalism.

The professional football season is ended and moralists among college coaches will have to attack something in order to get their names in print.

There probably is a great difference between a professional football player and a professional college coach. A difference of about $5000 a year.

Some managers used as many as five pitchers in one ball game last summer, thus inspiring the song, "When you walked out somebody else walked in."

In a cablegram from London John McGraw declares that he is dead, but those who say him handle his pitchers in the world series are still unimpressed.

Each tennis official has determined to rank Suzanne Lenglen high among the women tennis players of this country. The French are so eccentric.

There is not one outstanding heavyweight in Europe, save an exchange. And not one upstanding one, it might be added.

Wonderful if filled several times during the season, they become quite a pain if the eleven has a bad year and fails to draw. The new stadiums are caused each college possessing one to try to look at least three years ahead at home. Good attractions are necessary to fill the stadiums.

lowed closely with 166 and Heinz, a

CAN'T FIND CLEWS TO BANK ROBBER

Appleton police and county authorities have reported no new development that might lead to the discovery of the lone masked bandit who held up I. C. Clark, cashier of the State bank of Kimberly, and Miss Katherine G. Sturtevant, assistant cashier, and escaped with the bank's working change. The authorities still are working on the case, however. The exact amount of money taken has not yet been determined with absolute certainty, but it is known that it exceeded $1,000.

The robbery had no alarming effect upon the depositors of the bank and nothing in the least resembling a panic was experienced. On the contrary, customers were disposed to joke over it and bringing in small deposits would say that "this ought to help you out a little." The loss was fully covered by insurance, of which fact the customers were aware.
